EAA AirVenture Oshkosh 2012

If it is late July, you know Mike and Holly have been away at the “World’s Greatest Aviation Celebration” —EAA’s AirVenture Oshkosh. Over half a million people and 10,000 aircraft visited AirVenture this year. EAA reports their numbers were a little lower than in the past, but the vendors are delighted to report record sales. “This year’s AirVenture was great,” reports Mike, “we generated more leads than ever before.”

A United Effort—For the Heaven’s Landing team, their days were filled from morning until late evening. Mike, Holly and their two beautiful Heaven’s Landing Angels, Sydney and Katarina, were the winning combination. With Holly now in her second trimester, she balanced work and fun with plenty of rest. “She did great. We wanted her off her feet, especially in the heat of the day, so we worked around that.” Mike reports that this year’s Oshkosh had a festive atmosphere from the moment you arrived. “You are always working. There is much preparation, set up, interaction with the guests and pure energy from a show like this, but there is also a great opportunity to see the most amazing aircraft and have the best time with friends. We’ve come home exhausted, but energized.”

As always, the Heaven’s Landing family comes together during these great expo shows. Mike is so thankful to everyone who dropped in and said, “Hello,” including Graham and Julie Croman, Jim Frank, Lee Skandalakis, Ed and Connie Bowlin, Jim and Ann Woodring, Jim and Ginger Tomaszewski, and John and Susan Cokinogenis, to name just a few. “The best marketing for us is simply having our owners and friends spontaneously drop by our exhibit and talk about their first-hand experiences at Heaven’s Landing with our new guests,” comments Mike.

HL owner Jim Frank and his “stunning” Lancair Legacy.

Highlights—Reviewing the show with Mike, there are almost too many great details to report. “Our Angel, Sydney, flew with Ray Fowler (see Angel Flight, page 4); Jim Frank flew in his stunningly built Lancair Legacy—probably the most beautiful paint job and interior work I’ve ever seen; friends were everywhere; AOPA President Craig Fuller always stops in to see us; and we were treated to the best view of the indescribable Night Air and Pyrotechnics Show by my good friend and the VP of Whelen Lighting, Jeff Argerzinger.” (Follow the Night Air Show links above to view some spectacular videos posted on Youtube.)

Sushi Night!!! - A three year old tradition for Heaven's Landing friends to kick-start AirVenture is Sushi Night at Little Tokyo in Green Bay, WI. Restaurant owner Amy Li is the cousin of Mark and Diane Stapleton, good friends of Heaven's Landing. “She treats us like royalty,” Mike explains, “everything that is served is a delicious work of art.”

Coming Home—On the return flight home, Holly and Mike dropped in on Mike's aunt, Jodi Walan, in Chicago, IL. Jodi has recently been diagnosed with colon cancer, has undergone surgery, and is facing months of treatment. “We had to take the opportunity to stop in and give her a hug,” Mike states. “She is a fighter, and we ask for continued uplifting prayers for her and her family.”

Now back at Heaven's Landing, with the exhausting days of preparation, work, and clean-up behind them, the real action begins. “We will be very busy for the next several months doing follow-ups,” Mike concludes. “AirVenture gets people excited, and Holly and I look forward to scheduling and meeting with all of our new prospects in the coming months.”

wannaGOFAST Update

Next month will be an event of epic proportion right here in Heaven's Landing, on the stunning 5,069 foot concrete runway. On Saturday, September 22, wannaGOFAST.com and Heaven's Landing team up for a day of fast cars, exquisite planes, and brilliant people. A day of half mile drag racing and fly-in camaraderie.

You gotta car, you wanna go fast, you better hurry. Spaces are going fast. In fact, it has already sold out once with 100 competitors. Due to such great interest and response wannaGOFAST President Blake Hutchison added an additional 20 spots. Two are left as of 7/31! Don't fear, if you miss entering, you can always be a spectator! "We will have an awesome turnout," Blake reports, "Heaven's Landing is unbelievably beautiful, and we are so close to Atlanta, the event is getting a lot of attention in the car community, and we have some great sponsors." Blake reports that about 83 automotive forums are talking about the event, and wannaGOFAST was mentioned in the July 2012 issue of Hot Rod Magazine.

Competitors of all ages are registered for this event and are coming from as far away as Canada. Expect high performance Exotics, Import Tuners, and Muscle cars.

The Heaven's Landing runway will be closed during the racing hours, and all flying guests are encouraged to make their plans to arrive in advance. Come early and stay the entire weekend. Ground transportation is available through Duvall Ford Company and Enterprise Rental Cars (Franklin, NC).

Georgia 1/2 Mile Shootout Event Schedule

- 6:45 AM - Mandatory Driver Check-In/Cars go through Tech Inspection
- 8 AM - Gates Open to Spectators
- 8:30 AM - Staging Begins for Drivers/First Run of the Day
- 6:00 PM - Last Run of the Day
- 6:15 PM - Awards Ceremony

Prayers and Needed Donations

Heaven's Landing Owner, Ginger Tomaszewski is the loving sister of Jeff Balducci. Jeff is a 36 year-old loving husband, father of two beautiful young children, and a Navy veteran. Jeff was diagnosed with Follicular Non-Hodgkin's Lymphoma (state 4) earlier this year. Ginger has set up a website in Jeff's honor to help his family as they battle the cancer, the affects of the aggressive treatment, and the mounting medical bills. Please see Ginger's site where you can send your well-wishes, prayers, and donations.

A Different Kind of Angel Flight

Nineteen year-old, Sydney Taber, spent seven days working the Heaven's Landing exhibit at Oshkosh, talking to attendees and sharing her knowledge about the Heaven's Landing development. "Sydney took to the work like a veteran pro," comments Holly. "She was great to work with and did a fantastic job representing Heaven's Landing and the surrounding community." Sydney reports that she absolutely loved the experience, saying, "It was like being famous for a little bit, it wasn't like work at all."

As AirVenture 2012 was wrapping up and coming to a close, Ray Fowler, all around great guy and pilot extraordinaire of Jack Roush's P-51 Mustang, Gentleman Jim, and Jim Hagedorn, owner and pilot of the P-51 Mustang, Old Crow, came strolling by the Heaven's Landing booth. "All of a sudden a great opportunity was there," Mike recalls,

"Holly and I have been blessed to have had some amazing flights in the P-51 over the years. Here was an opportunity to offer the flight of a lifetime to Sydney." Talk about being in the right place at the right time!

"I'm not really sure how it all evolved," states Ray with a laugh, "but Jim was flying with a Mustang calendar girl in 40's period attire, and I was also scheduled to fly. I had an empty back seat in Gentleman Jim, and Sydney had never flown privately, let alone in a P-51 Mustang. Mike was excited about a 'different type of Angel Flight,' and it all happened. I was delighted to take Sydney on her first flight and provide such a unique experience for her. Initially, I think she was scared to death not having done anything like this before, but once off the ground, she seemed to have a wonderful time."

Ray and Mr. Hagedorn flew for over an hour in their respective planes. "There were times when we were in formation and got really close, and we also did some aerobatics with flips and rolls!" state Sydney. "Ray would let me know what we were going to do aerobatically before we would do it, but I have to admit I still got a little queasy. It was so much fun! I can't thank Mike, Holly, Ray, or Jack Roush enough for this experience of a lifetime, and I can't wait to be a Heaven's Landing angel again."

Pilots Seminar—Critical Decision Making

It comes from a love of general aviation, a respect of being a private pilot, and the deep loss of losing close friends over the years due to aviation accidents, that Heaven's Landing owner, Tom Nasser, got involved and has organized a Critical Decision Making Seminar sponsored by Cirrus Owners and Pilots Association (COPA). This FREE seminar will be held at Heaven's Landing on Saturday, September 1, from 11 am– 3pm.

Tom and his line-up of top expert speakers, Trip Taylor and Cliff Izer, spend the day with you in an engaging and hands-on manner. You will review statistical data, look in-depth at case studies, and reenactment a past accident. By the end of the day, you will come away with the knowledge of how to reduce your risks and make every flight as safe as possible. This is a not-to-be-missed program for Cirrus pilots, spouses and anyone who flies privately. All are welcome and encouraged to come and participate. New and high hour pilots will learn a great deal and be able to share experiences and solutions.

Tom recommends flying in Friday afternoon. There is so much to see and do. You are encouraged to spend a weekend in the beautiful Northeast Georgia Mountains, see Heaven's Landing in its late summer beauty, and fully enjoy the fellowship of this fly-in community. Call Tom with questions regarding the CDM Seminar at 317.445.0215 and Mike for information about Heaven's Landing at 706.212.0017. You may also visit the Heaven's Landing website for all accommodation and activity information the area offers.

Tom is also planning a post seminar/Labor Day party at his beautiful Heaven's Landing home on Saturday night, starting at 6:30 pm. It will be a fantastic opportunity to further get to know some amazing people. Please RSVP directly to Tom at nasserendo@aol.com if you plan to stay. See the CDM link above for additional details.

Veterans Airlift Command

Heaven's Landing owner and all around outstanding human, Peter Serodino, had a few seconds in the spotlight on July 18 when he flew Lt. First Class Matthew Leyva, a young wounded veteran, home to his family in Syracuse, NY. Peter is a regular volunteer pilot with the Veterans Airlift Command. The joyous homecoming was reported by a local Syracuse news crew featuring Peter's Cessna Citation landing at Syracuse Hancock International Airport.

Matthew was stationed in Afghanistan where he lost both his legs and parts of his hands from an IED in August 2011. Matthew has been recovering in Texas, and this was his first time home since the devastating injuries occurred. Making this homecoming possible is the VAC. "I'm so proud to be a part of this service to veterans," states Peter, "Matthew is an extraordinary young man who is working extremely hard to recover and has a great spirit."

Matthew has been featured in many local articles. In an interview from earlier this year, he stated, "I'm still here living. That is a gift." His road to recovery is one of perseverance and of great love for his wife and family.

It is for veterans like Leyva that the VAC was created in 2006 operating solely on a network of volunteers like Peter and the public's donations. Peter explains that everyone is busy, but you can always find the time even with his full schedule. "Finding the time to meet and transport our most honored and deserving service personnel," comments Peter, "is only a matter of jumping in and getting involved. What you put in is nothing compared to what you get back."

International Fellowship of Flying Rotarians (IFFR)

Being a Rotarian means so much to so many, whether you are a Rotarian, or on the receiving end of the countless projects and services the 1.2 million Rotarians provide each year. In addition to weekly club meetings and local and international service projects, Rotary International facilitates membership in groups with special interests. Examples of these groups include, fishing, skiing, golfing, and flying. Recently, Heaven's Landing met Dale Read the Southeastern Chairperson for the International Fellowship of Flying Rotarians and learned more about IFFR. Currently their membership consists of members from sixty countries. Members of IFFR are dedicated to fellowship within the aviation community and promoting Rotary International, and its mission.

Fly-ins occur year round in exciting locations both in the U.S. and around the world. The next southeast fly-in for IFFR will be at Pleasure Island, North Carolina, October 12-14 where participants will enjoy the area's 19th Annual Seafood, Jazz & Blues Festival. Typically eight to ten planes and twenty to thirty participants attend the regional fly ins.

Rotary holds an International Convention every year in various parts of the world. After each convention the IFFR group coordinates a ten day fly-about. 2013's convention will be in Portugal with a fly-about Portugal prior to the convention and a fly-about France after the convention. 2014's convention will be in Australia with a fly-about in Australia. Dale or the IFFR website may be contacted for complete details on IFFR membership and upcoming activities.

The local Rotary Club for the Heaven's Landing community is the Clayton Rotary Club. This club is an extremely active and fun-loving group of men and women with projects including food distributions, scholarship awards, charitable fundraising, along with wonderful fellowship and productive networking. The Clayton Rotary Club meets every Thursday from 12-1 pm at the Stockton House Restaurant. Consider visiting your local club and also membership in the International Fellowship of Flying Rotarians.

Gorge Floor Access Trail

Driving across the highway bridge in Tallulah Falls, you might not realize what you are passing over. Tallulah Gorge State Park is probably one of the most spectacular State Parks in the Southeast, but to fully take in the beauty of its amazing terrain, requires a bit of fortitude.

The Gorge Floor Access Trail is not for everyone, but for those who take the leap, they are well rewarded. Stretching two miles and at a depth of 1000 feet, the Gorge can be appreciated from higher vantage points, but securing one of the 100 floor access permits issued each day is an adventure you will not forget.

Yes, you can visit the Jane Hurt Yarn Interpretive Center where you may walk through the well done museum hall, serpentine around the natural displays, sit in the theatre for their award-winning gorge documentary, or even venture outside walking the overlook trails, but you will never truly experience the state park until you hike down the hundreds of steps, bound over the rocks at the base of Hurricane Falls, scramble along a primitive trail on the gorge floor to the last access point, Bridal Veil Falls.

It is at Bridal Veil Falls (Sliding Rock) that you will enjoy the awards of your effort. Bridal Veil is the fifth of six spectacular falls in the Gorge, these include: L'Eau d'or (46ft), Tempesta (76ft), Hurricane (96ft), Oceana (50ft), Bridal Veil (17ft), and Lover's Leap (16ft). Bridal Veil is the only place in the Gorge that you are allowed to swim, and the slide is pure fun.

Be prepared and use caution with every step. The rocks are incredibly slick and you are guaranteed to see plenty of people pitch back and fall on their rumps! Bridal Veil might drop 17 feet, but the actual sliding distance is probably over 30 feet. With 100 permits given out per day and the great destination, it can be busy, but it doesn't feel crowded. There is ample area to lounge on the water-carved quartzite rock and gaze in wonder at the surrounding cliffs which towering above you. Bring a lunch and plenty of water and spend hours. For the hike out, you can either go back the way you came, up the primitive trail to Hurricane and ascend the roughly 600 steps to the rim, or hike the Sliding Rock Trail that is only 1/4 of a mile but ascends at a very strenuous 45 degree pitch. In the summer heat both routes are a challenge and require hydration and breaks, but it is worth it!

Spotlighting an Extraordinary Community

Rabun County is a destination. Living here, I often find myself marveling at the RV's and seasonal visitors navigating around our scenic sights and byways. I marvel at license plates and the lengths vacationers will travel to come to this fair county—my home.

Over the summer, I've attended many events and visited new places that further remind me of what a perfect destination and home Rabun County (and Heaven's Landing) truly is. The topics are seemingly endless, but I beg to offer a little insight into two of my favorite recent events.

Let me begin by telling you about the people who are here. Rabun has both the young and the retired; but most profoundly, we are a community of caring friendly people. There are services, events, fund raisers, and notices constantly planned and publicized to either better someone's life, aid in someone's future, or support and nurture business. Walk into our hometown banks or stores and see the posted notices announcing some upcoming event! We are active, we are caring, and the effects reach beyond the Northeast Georgia foothills.

Crawling — On Saturday July 21, we had the great pleasure of attending for the first time, the fourth annual Clayton Crawl benefiting the Clayton Merchants Association and a great way to encourage spending close to home. This was truly a fun, entertaining, street festival. From all reports, it is one that continues to grow and flourish each year. It is basically a Taste of Rabun event held right in the middle of Main Street with about 14 restaurant vendors showcasing their finest treats. In addition to local wines, Highlands Micro-Brewery from Asheville was on tap with flowing beer to the delight of many of attendees. About 1,500 people laughed, ate, drank, and danced while multiple bands played along the sidewalk. The food that was offered was DELECTABLE— to die for Bruschetta topped with sweet sundried tomatoes to perfect fried green tomatoes and crab cakes— just to name a few offerings. The biggest crowd pleaser seemed to be the Lake Rabun Hotel, and ultimately, they were voted the winner of "best grub" award.

The downtown atmosphere was as if you'd walked into your friends living room. We met several new wonderful people as we waited in line for food samples. My husband effortlessly landed two new jobs for his business, and smiling folks freely shared stories of either living in the community or their joy in visiting. There were people of all age groups and walks of life. We brought or pre-teen kids along, handed them food tickets, and set them on their way. Our kids easily mingled among the attendees and were always able to find us despite our constant moving about. We saw many friends who said they would bring their kids in the future. Mark your calendar for July of next year and the Clayton Crawl!

Crisis — The next story I wish to share focuses on how far reaching and generous a community we really have. Friends of ours organized an event to benefit the crisis in West Africa. Yes, that is right West Africa from Clayton, Georgia. These friends are truly extraordinary in their efforts, but not unordinary in their caring. Jim Loring, the husband, is both an international relief agency photographer, and an instructor for North Georgia

Jim Loring/Tearfund

Technical School. Jim has worked all over the world under extreme conditions in order to bring the plight of children, communities, and countries into focus for the rest of the world - to those of us who don't often see these needs clearly.

Community—continued

Jim Loring/Tearfund

This past June, Jim, motivated by dire reports of devastating drought, famine and violent jihadist activity, raised the funds and set off to the Sahel Region (a transition zone below the Sahara and above the Savannas) in Africa. The journey was difficult, unpredictable, but guided by an undeniable faith with support at home by Jim's wife, Lynda Ann.

This African region is familiar to Jim with his decades of involvement in relief work. His journey was to seek out individuals, profile their stories of survival, and return to the States with real solutions he could share with others. What Jim brought home are thousands of images on his Nikon, personal stories of courage and need, and a tangible goal of relief. He has entitled his photo documentation, "Long Road to Normal."

Upon his return home, what began to develop next was the trickle effect within this loving community as friends talked to friends. If Jim is the soft spoken leap-of-faith photographer, Lynda Ann is the eloquently spoken dynamic organizer, and from their words and actions came a series of more casual conversations. The Lorings soon found themselves teamed up with Cappy Taylor, owner of Zeppelin's Pasta House (Main Street, Clayton).

What evolved was one extraordinary evening celebrating culture, with music, dance, authentic foods, and a large check to aid our starving world neighbors. On Thursday, July 27, Cappy opened her restaurant for this benefit dinner. The meal, the authentic African dancers, the people, the auction items, were AMAZING. This is Cappy's domain, her area of expertise, her purpose. She has a true passion for food and people, and what she created was magnificent. Cappy and her staff served the full house twelve carefully-crafted "Tastes of Africa" dishes. She put hours into studying the region and its resources, then contacted her suppliers. Through her efforts most of the food, wine, and authentic auction items were donated to the cause. Cappy developed her recipes to represent Kenya, Tanzania, Ethiopia, Sudan, West Africa, Liberia, Senegal, and Mozambique. The results were exquisite coupled with the beat of the drums and soft pounding of dancing feet throughout the restaurant. Guests were delighted and inspired by the joyful movement and good cheer.

"There was loads of energy," Lynda Ann reflects. "The main thing is not only did it raise money, but it heightened awareness of this type of need. People are understanding that for some areas of the world there is no other hope. No government services or local churches or groups that can lend aid to their people. Most people of need in America have some sort of resource; in this area, if not helped, millions are likely to die."

All told the evening netted about $5,000 to be sent directly to the Red Cross for their specific commitment of food supplies to the hardest hit African regions. Jim knows first hand that these Red Cross workers, including the region's Red Cross President, will be risking their lives delivering supplies into the worst areas of famine and fighting in the coming months. The ultimate goal of 312 tons of food (costing $280,800) needs to be delivered. Jim's ongoing project is outlined on his website with donations accepted locally going through the Rabun County Community Partnership/Sahel, PO Box 2172, Clayton, GA 30525, USA. One hundred percent of the proceeds will be sent for this relief effort. From our wallets to their lives. Please visit Jim's website for some amazing images, words of hope, and how you can support this cause.

Giving, living, sharing is what the people of Rabun County do best.
