Welcome Zach Hitchcock and Courtney Beckett!

The Heaven's Landing community welcomes it's newest members: Zach Hitchcock and Courtney Beckett.

Zach, a Delta Airlines 757/767 pilot based in Atlanta, has always wanted to live in an airpark since he first found about them in the late 90s when he started flying.

Courtney teaches junior high school geography and history, and she enjoys designing jewelry in her spare time. When it came to living in an aviation community, Zach says, "Luckily Courtney didn't need any convincing from me."

Wanting a transition from their current home in Chattanooga, Tennessee, to the Atlanta area, he and Courtney began their search for an airpark home. This led them to visiting several airparks and, as Zach puts it, "none came close to Heaven's Landing!"

"Our first visit was incredible," the two say. "Courtney got her first GA airplane ride with Mike around the local area in his Centurion. In the not too distant future, we hope to get a Debonair or Bonanza and get involved with the Pilots and Paws charity [a non-profit which uses aviation to assist in animal rescue]."

Zach and Courtney thrive on adventure and the outdoors (a perfect fit for Heaven's Landing), from whitewater rafting and mountain biking, to landscaping and tropical travel. When at home, the couple enjoys spending time with their three cats. "We have only met a handful of current residents but look forward to meeting everyone." Welcome, Zach and Courtney!

Give the Priceless Gift of Flight

Do you remember the first time you flew in an airplane? Or perhaps your first time as pilot in command? Or the first time flying in a plane that was your very own? For all of us, pilot or not, flying creates magical memories. For some, it can even transform lives.

Challenge Air for Kids & Friends is a nonprofit committed to bringing the life-changing perspective of flight to children with special needs who may feel the obstacles in their life cannot be overcome. A short flight may not seem like much, but this taste of fun and adventure can be a pivotal point in a child's life.

Heaven's Landing is proud to host a Challenge Air event on Saturday, April 30. We are looking for experienced pilots to donate their time and aircraft. Pilots must have 500 PIC hours, current medical certificate, and proof of insurance. Contact Holly to sign up or for more information.

If you don't fly, there are still many ways to help! We invite you to sponsor a child, offer donations from your business or organizational resources, or join us at the event as a volunteer or spectator.

Maybe you fly for your occupation, you've owned your own plane for years, or for some other reason, you find yourself taking flight for granted. Regain some of that magic by lighting up a child's eyes and helping them defy gravity!

Saturday, February 6

The small German town of Helen is an alpine gem that is definitely worth the trip, located only a thirty minute drive from Heaven's Landing. The drive there will take you through beautiful mountain roads and forests.
